POTATO VARIETIES 2027 - DESCRIPTIONS

First Earlies

Foremost: Very good cooking qualities and a gardener's favourite for flavour. Good for boiling. Resistant to scab. 2kg.

Rocket: Rocket is a very heavy cropping variety with pure white flesh, which is waxy and soft at first digging. It has good all-round disease resistance including golden eelworm. 2kg.

Winston: Released in 1992, this white skinned variety has been unstoppable on the show bench circuit winning many titles year after year and produces high yields of smooth, shallow eyed, tubers that are short to oval in shape. Their flesh has a firm texture and a creamy colour, whilst their very low, dry matter would see Winston described as a wet potato. These seed potatoes also have excellent all round potato disease resistance. 2kg.

Second Early

Kestrel: Excellent flavour and disease resistance. The best performing second early and good for exhibition. Blight and scab resistant. Good for chips and roasting. 2kg.

Wilja: Noted for its tasty tubers, 'Wilja' has a medium-dry texture, which makes it a great all-rounder. Its creamy yellow flesh holds its shape well (even if it's been boiled for a little too long), and as the tubers tend to keep well, they can be enjoyed over a long period. 2kg.

Maincrop

Desiree: Excellent red type, strong flavour, waxy potato. Good for exhibition. Very drought resistant. Heavy cropper. Good for general purpose. 2kg.

Kerrs Pink: seed potatoes are a very popular variety both here in Scotland and over in Ireland, due to their dry and floury nature. Kerrs Pink tubers are normally short and oval with slightly deep eyes. At their very best eaten when simply boiled in their beautiful, pink skins. These seed potatoes have good blight resistance and long-term storage ability. 2kg

King Edward: Excellent cooking and eating quality. 2kg.

Maris Piper: Good general-purpose variety. Eelworm resistant. 2kg.

Picasso: seed potatoes produce tubers which are round-to-oval in shape, with smooth white skins and pink eyes. Picasso is now a popular variety for allotment growers due to its high potato disease resistance. With Cara as one of its parents, Picasso has a great range of uses in the kitchen. A huge yielder and good storing variety. 2kg.

Sarpo Mira: Bred in Hungary and with good resistance to blight. It also has good drought-resistance and slugs don't seem to like the pink-skinned tubers. keeps well once dug. It has floury flesh and is a great all-round choice, being especially suitable for roasting, baking and chipping. 2kg.

Salad

Charlotte: Reliable, high yielding, waxy salad variety with good flavour. Easy to grow. Good for boiling and salad. 2kg.

Jazzy: potatoes are truly exceptional. With their distinct, smooth pale-yellow skins and unique, buttery flavour, they not only stand out in appearance but also deliver an extraordinary culinary experience. Their waxy, firm texture and refined taste make them the perfect choice for various culinary applications, including roasting, making crispy chips, and creating flavourful salads. What's more, their thin skins make them incredibly easy to prepare without the need for peeling. 2kg.

Nicola: Renowned for their distinctive oval shape, Nicola seed potatoes yield golden-skinned tubers with creamy, waxy flesh, excellent for boiling and salads. These potatoes are resilient against diseases such as common scab and potato viruses Y and leaf roll. Favoured for late planting, they're typically ready to harvest 15-22 weeks post-planting, a popular choice for festive Christmas periods. 2kg.
